Competitors will be notified at the trials if they are competing in a weight class in which an exemption has been granted. The final deadline for wrestle-offs to take place will be June 23, 2025, with medical clearance being received a minimum of one week prior to this to allow for planning of the wrestle-off. If an exempted athlete is unable to gain clearance to compete by these deadlines, the results of the trials tournament will stand. Wrestle-offs may be arranged before this date as scheduling allows – and if medical clearance is received early. The top 3 athletes in the contested weight class will be invited to participate in the wrestle-offs, with the exempted athlete facing them in a ladder format. If the exempted athlete reaches the top-ranked athlete, they will meet in a best-of-three format, with the top-ranked athlete holding a one match advantage.

INJURIES POST-TRIALS

If the number one athlete from a weight is injured after the final trials, they must provide medical proof to the CSG coaching staff and Sask Wrestling. They also must be medically cleared four weeks prior to departure for the games – July 18th, 2025. This will ensure that the athlete is in shape and ready to go for the games. If clearance is received AFTER this deadline, the alternate in the weight will be awarded a wrestle-off to try to win the spot – assuming the alternate has been fully involved with the Team Sask training. The wrestle-off will be a best of three with NO MATCH ADVANTAGE given to either athlete.

2025 TEAM SASK CANADA GAMES SELECTION CRITERIA

First place in each weight class at the 2025 Team Sask Trials will be named to Team Saskatchewan and will travel to the games to compete (barring injury or removal). ‘True Second’ will be named as the alternate for the 2025 Team Sask Canada Summer Games and will be a part of the Team Sask training program as well (but will not travel to the games). In certain circumstances, 3rd place athletes may also be asked by Team Sask coaches to participate in team programming as alternates.

In a situation where the number one athlete needs to be replaced, the alternate may be moved into that spot to represent the province at the Canada Summer Games. However, for an alternate to be eligible, they must have participated in all the Team Sask summer program and be approved by the Team Sask coaching staff. Team Sask coaches, with Sask Wrestling approval, reserve the right to move athletes to another weight class if necessary.

If a weight class is without participants at the trials, the Canada Summer Games Coaching Staff have the authority to seek out athletes in the province to ensure all positions are filled

A wrestler named to the Canada Summer Games team may be removed at any time prior to the games if the games coaches and the Sask Wrestling Executive agree that the athlete has not met the requirements of the Canada Summer Games training program, or who has violated the athlete code of conduct, Sask Wrestling policy or has been disruptive to the team environment.

All weight class winners and alternates will be required to pay this fee to be a part of the 2025 Team Sask CSG program. This fee is non-refundable as plans and budget are based around commitment to the program. The full program will be outlined by the coaching staff prior to the Final trials so athletes, parents and coaches can prepare accordingly.
